

Name:

1AC Title:

(Introduction):

This is why my partner and I stand firmly resolved that the United States federal government should substantially reform its banking, finance, and/or monetary policy.

It's important that we are all clear on the terms we are debating so let's start with Definitions:

Definition 1 :

Definition 2:

Definition 3:

Name:

Inherency or status quo: (tagline)

Let's take a look at the current condition or the present policy.

Citation:

Evidence:

So what are the problems with the status quo? I can explain in two points I'll call harms:

Harm 1: (tagline)

We should eliminate the penny, because

Citation:

Evidence:

Impact:

Name:

Harm 2: (tagline)

We should eliminate the penny, because

Citation:

Evidence

Impact:

.

To fix these problems we offer the following plan:

Mandate:

Pass an Act that states:

- (1) All pennies will be removed from the United States currency circulation as they are deposited in U.S. banks.
- (2) The United States Mint will permanently stop the production of pennies and not replace them with a denomination of equal value.
- (3) The total transaction value of purchases will be rounded to the nearest nickel.

Agency and Enforcement: Congress, President, Department of the Treasury, US Mint

Funding: No funding needed

Timeline: This plan will go into effect one year after an Affirmative ballot.

Name:

Once the plan is adopted, we can expect the following advantages or benefits:

Advantage 1: (tagline)

After eliminating the penny, we can expect

Citation:

Evidence:

Impact:

Advantage 2: (tagline)

Once we eliminate the penny, we can also expect

Citation:

Evidence:

Impact:

Name:

Advantage 3: (tagline)

Finally, if we eliminate the penny, we can expect

Citation:

Evidence:

Impact:

In conclusion,

Thank you, I now stand ready for cross-examination.